Hound Comics Inc. is an Equal Opportunity Employer (EOE)

Welcome to Hell, potential Hounds. You are just beginning your adventure into the dimensions of Hound Comics Inc. With our offices located in metro New York area, Hound Comics has influence in all areas of entertainment for kids, teens, young adults and adults, from high class comics, film, online content, video games, toys and novelties.

Hound Comics offers several different types of internships, all giving participants a hands-on experience with media, advertising, public relations and marketing in a professional setting.

Selected applicants will be contributing to Hound Comics' success while receiving an unmatched, behind-the-scenes learning experience. Intern's roles will include: creating news packets, sales, research, generating content for web, taking photos, shooting video, conducting interviews, using social networking to generate buzz, and learning invaluable life and business skills.

Like most business we need all departments to keep the company running smoothly, and we encourage students to send in a resume and cover letter with any departments they may be interested in.

NOTE: We accept applications on a rolling basis, but we review applications for:

Spring Semester, between March and May
Summer Semester, between July and August
Fall Semester, between September and November
Winter Semester, between December and January

Candidate Requirements

☐ Be aware that all internships are non-paid.
☐ Be available at minimum 20 hours a week.
☐ Be prepared to travel to NY office for a weekly meeting, travel costs not provided.

Hound Comics Available Internships:

Editorial Operations

You are able to work well with others and under pressure. Learn the day-to-day process of scheduling press releases, and directly assist with the administrative duties of the main office. Filing, typing, research and communication is only part of this fast paced position. Working with every other department will provide selected applicants an inside look to how the business is run and how the other departments work together. Interns with good editing skills and MS Office skills are a must.

Web Analytics, Marketing and Business Development

The title may sound intimidating, but this is an integral part of our business plan. If you are interested in the power of information, this position is for you. Interns will be involved directly with sales, research of new revenue opportunities, and ongoing website improvement; perfect for the multi-taskers and internet blood hounds.

Graphic Design & Digital Media Group

Our presence online is vast. Interns must have knowledge of video games, pop culture, movie, TV, and all the like both old and current. Interns must also be knowledgeable about social networking sites such as Twitter, Facebook and the like. Duties include design, editing, social media reporting, analysis, assisting in maintaining our own social networks, online research projects, and brainstorming. This is perfect for the broadcaster and graphic designer in you.

Interested students and applicants please send a cover letter and resume to Etan Wishnevski,

About Hound Comics, Inc.

Hound Comics, Inc. is a privately owned publishing company dedicated to providing top-notch entertainment including several projects ranging from comic books to film. Owned and operated by what is known as the "The Borderhounds Creative Team," the company has spent years of hard work and determination in order to create an innovative and unique universe for readers and viewers to enjoy. Our goal is to keep the ownership of creators' brands independent while continuing to produce quality products that can compete with the leaders in the comic book industry. That being said; we here at Hound Comics stand behind our titles 100% and look forward to creating a product that can not only be enjoyed, but can also be passed down for generations.
